Re: Anti-microbial treatment

To whom this may concern.

The mattresses and pillows of Tempur are anti-microbial treated. The treatment that we use is state of the art and our products are not harmful to humans.

Due to the fact that we need to protect our methods and techniques it is not possible to go into the specifics. The way we can guarantee the safety to our customers without revealing methods, recipes, and techniques is that the covers are made of OekoTex certified textiles and the mattresses are LGA certified. Copies of the certificates can be provided upon request.
